課程目標 Course Objectives
The class of Empirical Financial Economics is designed to provide the student with an introduction to the fields of Empirical Investment and Empirical Behavior Finance. Students pursuing a concentration in financeshould view Empirical Financial Economics as an advanced course in Investments, Portfolio Management, financial markets and institutions.This class assumes no prior education in finance. It develops fundamental models of valuation and investment from first principles and applies them to problems of corporate and individual decision making. Topics covered portfolio theory and the trade-off between risk and return. It presents three asset pricing models, the Capital Asset Pricing Model, the Arbitrage Pricing Theory,the Three-Factor Model, and recent applications to the calculation of the firm' s cost of capital.Students are introduced to the fundamental concepts of finance: the time value of money, portfolio theory and the determinants of expected security returns.
