課程描述 Course Description
The course is designed for students to learn the essentials of strategic interactions among firms domestically and internationally as well. In addition to stimulate rigorous thinking about the implication of firms' behavior, understanding how to construct an empirically-testable model is an important goal of the course. Students will learn how to employ basic game theories to analyze oligopoly models. The regarding issues may cover the decisions on predatory conduct, collusion, mergers, advertisements, and research and development. This syllabus is subject to modification as the semester progresses.
課程目標 Course Objectives
This course will sharp students' ability to conduct and evaluate economic analyses of issues relating to industrial economics in world economy. We'll look carefully at relationships between firms and the marketplace, asking why some functions are handled within the control structure of firms while others are left to market transactions. We'll look at those market transactions with care, noticing that many of them turn out to be something quite different from arm's length transactions in a spot market.
