EVALUATION/ASSESSMENT METHODS

Achievement of students' learning objectives and outcomes will be evaluated based on the following examination methods and events:

- 1.The midterm and final exam are a three-hour event. THEY WILL BE IN CLASS.
2. There are no provisions for make-up exams for midterm and final exam. However, if a student has a legitimate reason for missing a scheduled exam, he/she will be allowed to take no more than one make-up exam. Moreover, MAKE-UP TESTS MAY CONSIST OF QUESTIONS WITH MUCH HIGHER DIFFICULTY LEVELS THAN SCHEDULED TESTS, because the student has the benefit of more preparation time and information that can be obtained from classmates. To take a make-up test, the student must provide a legitimate excuse signed by a qualified person; for example a physician in case of illness.
3. There will be 3 to 4 quizzes in our course. THERE ARE NO MAKE-UPS FOR MISSED QUIZZES. Therefore a score of "0" will be assigned to a missed quiz.
4. The use of cell phones is not allowed while students are taking exam or quizzes.
5. Homework Assignments may be assigned at the end of comprehensive lecture, as deemed necessary, depending on the significance of the lecture materials to the student' s learning process. A score of "0" will be assigned to a missed homework.

INSTRUCTIONAL METHOD:

The primary method of course delivery is lecture and interactive discussion through active student participation in class discussion. The lectures will be devoted to the coverage of the textbook chapters with primary emphasis on the basic economic principles and their relevance to individual and organizational behavior pertaining to economic phenomena. To enhance their learning, the students are expected to comply with their reading assignments in order to participate in class discussions as well as all other supplemental materials provided by the instructor. To ensure that the students understand the concepts and illustration as the course unfolds chapter after chapter, the students may be assigned questions whose answers will be discussed in class. Homework assignments will require using the lecture or textbook for answers to specific concept questions and illustrations. These assignments will help them develop the ability to think logically as well as use quantitative analysis in order to explain the behaviors of individual units engaged in production, exchange, and consumption of goods and services.

To understand the economic concepts, and earn a passing grade the students are encouraged to:

- a. attend class regularly, and participate actively in classroom discussion;
- b. read the textbook chapters, and other relevant reading materials assigned by the instructor.
- c. utilize the study guide and sample tests and quizzes from the lecture
- d. ask for help whenever needed through personal visits during office hours, or asking questions via e-mail, or phone calls.
- e. allocate enough time for reading assignments and preparation for tests and final exam.
- f. complete satisfactorily and promptly their homework assignments.
