其他補充說明 (Supplemental instructions)

1、 Requirements :

1. Attendance is important. Please attend the class on time. (Start with 8. Absent = -3, late =-1. Full time attendance=+2. Email is required for asking a day off.)
2. Whenever we finish a lesson, there will be a quiz in the next week. Makeup quiz is not acceptable.
3. The final exam includes listening test, reading test and writing test. No makeup exam is acceptable.
4. You have to complete a language task in this semester: a 2-3 minute oral presentation (video recording) in the topic of self-introduction in Chinese.
5. About Chinese characters: You are required to read and type every character that appear in the textbook. As to writing, you should at least be able to write your Chinese name and 10 characters from each lesson that I choose for you.

2、 Notices:

1. You don't get extra points for doing homework and you don't lose points for not doing it. However, doing homework helps you improve your Chinese ability. Usually students who do their homework learn better than those who don't. Don't copy homework from your classmates. You are just wasting your time.
2. I don't accept digital homework because I can't correct it. If you use a digital workbook, you have to print out your homework by yourself.
3. When you make the PowerPoint for the oral presentation, you have to write your original content. Copying another student's content is not allowed.
4. Attendance is important. If you don't have an ideal final score, usually it's because your attendance is bad.
5. I will NEVER accept any negotiation for scores. If you need a high score, work hard to earn it.

About the Oral Presentation “Self-Introduction”:

1. You have to finish this on time. Late submission will get a 10% score deduction.
2. NEVER use google translation based on 2 reasons: 1) you don't practice anything. 2) Google translation is ALWAYS wrong. However, you can use it for looking for vocabulary that you need to express.
3. Please only use the Chinese you know to make this presentation. DO NOT use too difficult language structure. You may fail to present it in a proper way. Difficult sentences don't make your presentation better.
4. Do a PPT slides and write some Chinese sentences in it, or do subtitles if you shoot a video directly. Your Chinese typing skill will be evaluated by this. Adding some pictures or drawings will be a plus.
5. In your presentation, you should include the following contents:
 - 1) Your name.
 - 2) Your nationality.
 - 3) Your family members.
 - 4) Your hobby.
 - 5) Your likes and dislikes of food.
 - 6) How do you feel about Taiwan and your study here? You can also talk about how you feel about Donghua university.
 - 7) Last comment.
6. Please do this in traditional characters.
7. Record your presentation to a video. Upload it to YouTube and then paste the link on “Forum” > “Oral Presentation” of e-learning website NDHU before the deadline.
8. Your presentation will be graded based on: 1) the fluency, 2) the accuracy (e.g. good pronunciation and tones, no wrong characters, no grammar mistakes, good Chinese typing, etc.), 3) the content.
9. NEVER use AI to generate your oral presentation. This is a language class, not a computer science class.
10. Do not set your video as a private one.
