課程描述 Course Description

This course introduces students to the basic principles and practices of marketing management in the tourism industry. It covers essential marketing concepts, strategic planning, and how these ideas are applied in real-world travel and hospitality settings. Through interactive lectures, case discussions, and group projects, students will learn to think critically about marketing challenges and opportunities in tourism.

The course also explores current trends such as digital marketing and the growing impact of emerging technologies like generative AI. By the end of the course, students will gain a solid foundation in tourism marketing and develop skills relevant to both local and international tourism markets.
